

Rectification - Introduction

To find an unknown birth time, or fine tune an existing one, a time-line of your life is needed, with the following kind of events listed. If possible give full data: exact date, time and place, or if not, as close as you can remember or have been told. 'Events' may be visible or invisible, occurring on the mental, emotional or spiritual planes as well as the physical.

'Data' = 'date, time place' or as close as possible.

It is not necessary to provide absolutely everything listed - a selection of key events and people should suffice. I will contact you if any problems arise. And – you might be surprised how much you can recall when you set your mind to it.

There may be little details you have heard, that might not sound important, but could be very useful in this 'forensic' aspect of this work. For example - 'Dad said the 6 o'clock news had just begun', or 'The neighbour had just taken my mum's other kids to school'. Equally, if you simply have a 'feeling' about a certain time of day, let me know. Just focusing on the 'need to know' this information will often yield surprising results, through dreams, synchronous events, and so on. Allow yourself to undertake the process in an unhurried time frame, if possible, and treat it as an adventure.

Remember: YOU WERE THERE!

Even if clock-timed cognitive information is missing, your organism's intelligence knows when you were born, and the rectification process is designed to elucidate this, through a combination of intuitive and logical methods.

The process of collecting this information can be a meaningful one. There are traditions within which the process of 'recapitulation' or remembering the details of one's life is used during intensive spiritual transition, for purifying the heart and mind, and clarifying a deeper understanding of our life experience.

Please email your time-line to me at enquiries@melaniereinhart.com

A recent photo can also be useful.

If you have had your chart done before, let me know what time was used, and how this was ascertained (dowsing, for example), and whether or not you felt that this chart was a good 'fit'. Your subjective assessment is very valuable for rectification purposes.

Please note: I can only undertake rectification work in the context of a doing a reading of your chart.

GUIDELINES FOR WRITING NOTES FOR RECTIFICATION

Family

- Parents birthdays (and death dates if they have died)
- Birth data of any siblings or half-siblings (and death dates if they have died)
- Any other person significant in your formative years (grandparents, other family members etc)
- The data of anyone in the family can be useful for rectification purposes
- Any family member with whom you feel a special bond
- If you happen to have birth and death dates of ancestors further back, with any anecdotes about their lives, this can also be useful.

Other Relationships

- Data of any fateful meetings, marriages or divorces
- Data of significant people with whom you have been involved
- This can include any kind of significant relationship like business partnerships, work colleagues, friends, lovers.

Health

- Major illnesses, accidents, surgery
- Any chronic conditions – details of diagnosis, timing, meaning for you, etc.

Education and Work history

- Specialities like degrees, diplomas, trainings
- Career / work trajectory
- Hopes and ambitions

Spiritual Life

- Any major religious / spiritual affiliations, past or present
- Data of significant transpersonal experiences (conversions, exaltations, philosophical clarification, consolations, 'dark nights of the soul' etc)
- Ancestral influences of a religious nature

Relocations of area and country

- Where, when, under what circumstances
- Include any culture or country with which you might feel a special affinity, even if you have never visited the area

ANYTHING ELSE WHICH YOU FEEL HAS BEEN LIFE-SHAPING

Fees

- Initial fee of £100.00, with adjustments if it takes me a long time to do, or becomes complex or extensive. I will contact you if it looks like the fee will need to be more, although in practice this almost never happens.
- This depends mainly on the range of hours within which the time is not known.
- Minor fine-tuning (with pendulum and minimal time-line checking) over a range of about 30min can be incorporated into the basic fee for a first reading.

NOTE: Rectification is very much a 'living process'. While I cannot guarantee to find the absolutely correct time, I do guarantee to find a chart which will 'speak' to the issue at hand. Contact me if you are not clear about this statement and would like to discuss it further.
